

Phone Company Stresses Higher Rates Necessary

Dollar Buys Less Now, Report Says, in Expansion Plan for Year

The pressing need for increased telephone rates to offset the effects of inflation on costs of operation, taxes and plant construction was strongly emphasized in the New York Telephone Company's annual report for 1951 released today. The company's application for higher rates is now pending before the Public Service Commission.

In a statement accompanying the report, Keith S. McHugh, president of the company, estimated that the rate of earnings on the present fair value of the company's property in 1951 was under 4 1/2 per cent. The annual earnings were about $8 1/2 million higher than for the previous year. McHugh said, however, that but for the modest rate increase in May 1950, earnings in 1951 would have been no higher than in 1950 despite the 354,000 telephones added during 1951.

"The situation is the more serious when profits are held to a bare minimum as they are today," he declared. "The fact is that today's dollars buy only a little over half the amount of telephone equipment they bought 10 years ago. This is bound to have a progressive and serious effect on the return to the investor. The effect is cumulative as more low cost plant has to be replaced by high cost plant and as more new high cost plant is added for growth."

"The company must face the problem of continued inflation squarely. It must find some way to maintain itself in the sound financial position needed to meet emergencies and to go forward with the improvements and expansion of service which the public requires."

Need $25 Million More
In October the Public Service Commission denied an appeal for higher rates but later reopened the case to consider new cost factors brought about by the higher corporate taxes levied by Congress and by higher wage rates. "Over $25 million of additional revenue is necessary to restore the earnings lost through these added costs alone," McHugh said.

Important to Both
"The outcome of the case is of great importance to the company and to telephone users, since current higher costs of operation and taxes must be met," the president declared. "Yet a favorable decision in this matter alone will not conclude the company's main anxiety over the continued effect of inflation."

In 1951 taxes levied on the telephone company and its customers totaled $202 million, more than in any previous year. These taxes averaged $3.20 per telephone per month, compared to about $1.40 before the war. They are equivalent to three-fourths of the company's wage bill and are over four times as much as is paid to the stockholders in dividends. The company stepped up its post-war expansion and improvement program to a total of $170 million to meet the larger demands for service, the 354,000 telephones added during the year bringing the total in use throughout its territory to 5,468,000, of which 84 per cent are dial.

The construction program involved the installation of more than a million miles of local and toll wires and much local equipment. Major elements were 17 new buildings, 51 new central offices and numerous additions to other central offices.

Better Services
For the year as a whole, the comprehensive indexes which measure the qualities of service closely and accurately show that it was even better than in 1950.

The waiting list was reduced to 84,000, the lowest point in eight years, and equipment was provided to give thousands of party-line customers individual lines. By the end of the year, almost 25 million calls a day were being handled throughout the territory. In

Democratic Moguls Facing Rift Between Upstate, City

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The state Democratic hierarchy today faced the problem of bridging a rift between upstate and New York city leaders in a critical election year.

The struggle for power broke into the open yesterday when Max W. Stanton of Geneva, Ontario county leader, confirmed that Democratic leaders in 31 upstate counties had organized to buck the metropolitan leaders in party conferences.

The upstate forces plotted their strategy at a meeting in Utica Sunday attended by leaders or representatives of upstate county organizations who were members of the Democratic Rural Chairmen's Association. The group was formed several years ago by persons friendly to James A. Farley, former national chairman and postmaster general.

Stanton, who has headed the association for the past six years, said, "We hope to have something to say about the candidates and some other things." He asserted that party power now "very definitely" was held by a metropolitan faction headed by Bronx boss Edward J. Flynn.

The Utica meeting was regarded as a revival of a move to oust State Chairman Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo, target of long-smoldering discontent among insurgent Democratic forces.

In New York, a spokesman for the Democratic State Committee said "we have no comment" regarding the new organization. Stanton was named president of the new "Upstate Democratic Chairmen's Association" for a two-year term. He termed the new group an "enlargement" of the rural association and said it would seek to recruit supporters in counties outside New York city.

Chieftains from the upstate metropolitan counties have not yet enlisted in the new organization, but will be invited. The counties are Albany, Erie, Monroe, Oneida,

Catskillian May File for $200,000 On Thruway Crash

James Yannane Granted Leave by Judge to Go to Claims Court Despite Deadline

James Yannane, 31, Catskill, has been granted leave by Judge Lounsbury to file a claim with the Court of Claims for $200,000 for injuries which he suffered in an accident last March 26 on the new New York Thruway near the Ulster-Greene county line. Cook and Cook of Kingston appear for Yannane.

Permission to file the claim was granted counsel although the customary time for filing a claim had expired. Consent of Judge Lounsbury was granted on the theory that the claimant had been continuously disabled since the accident and his counsel, Cook & Cook, had been unable to file the claim within the statutory time. Yannane was discharged from the Greene County Memorial Hospital only a few days ago.

Collided With Truck

The action is brought as a result of a collision between the car in which Yannane was riding and a truck owned by Kenneth DeLong, 33, of Rutland, Vt., which was parked on the roadway. The action against the state is based on the contention that the shoulders of the Thruway were incomplete and not in condition to permit a truck to pull off on the soft shoulders. The accident happened at 3:30 a. m.

Returning to Kingston from a visit to Catskill, where he had been spending Easter with his mother, was Louis J. Desco, 29, of Kingston, who was killed in the accident. The car was being operated by Stephen Desco, 27, of Catskill. Also in the Desco car was Mrs. Alice Gaffney, 37, and Gerald Gaffney, 39, both of Catskill. All of the passengers in the Desco car were injured and taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital.

In Hospital Long Time
The passenger car struck the rear of the parked truck, according to the police investigation made at the time. Yannane was very seriously injured and was confined to the hospital until a short time ago.

Held for Grand Jury

Arrested Friday afternoon on Grand street near Smith avenue, Ernest Osterhoudt, 42, of 125 Hunter street, waived examination and was ordered held for grand jury action when he was arraigned in city court this morning on a charge of driving while intoxicated as a second offender. Osterhoudt was arrested at 4:12 p. m. Friday by Patrolman Albert Eisele, the police reported. No accident was involved, according to the report. A second offender charge of driving while intoxicated is a felony charge.

Custodians to Collect

New York, March 1 (AP)—School custodians have won their legal battle to collect for services rendered in registration, primary and general elections from 1943 to 1948. The city was directed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Thomas A. Aurelio to pay 415 custodians for those services, involving an amount estimated at $253,000.

Reds Remain Firm to Keep Soviets as Truce Neutral

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Munsan, Korea, March 1 (AP)—Communist truce negotiators said today they would "eternally reject" efforts to keep Russia off a neutral supervisory commission, and a UN delegate acknowledged there seems to be "no prospect" of an early Korean armistice.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby told the Reds it was apparent there would be no early truce and called for an immediate exchange of all sick and wounded prisoners.

The Communists promptly rejected Libby's request and accused the UN allies of "deliberately serving notice" that they planned to delay the armistice negotiations.

The Red notice that they will stand by their nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector came only a day after UN negotiators announced "final and irrevocable" rejection of the Soviet Union.

Nort Korean Col. Chang Chun San said bluntly: "I hereby declare our side will eternally reject your position (to Russia) until you withdraw your unreasonable objections."

Includes Soviets

Chang said the two-week deadlock over Russia could be broken only if the UN accepted one of two alternatives, both of which would include Soviet representatives on a truce team which would inspect behind the lines during a truce.

The first, he said, was for both sides to agree to all neutral nations nominated. The second would be for each side to select its representatives without agreement on the part of the other side.

"Apart from these two, there will be no other solution in resolving this question," Chang said. "In the interests of any armistice we demand that you withdraw your unreasonable position."

Col. Dr. Darrow quickly reminded Chang that "your side doesn't demand anything from our side."

Admiral Libby said the subcommittee on prisoner exchange "accomplished nothing."

Driverless Truck Damages Building At 72 Broadway

Police Report Says Brake on Vehicle Let Go Permitting It to Roll on Hill

The front of the Colonial Cleaners and Dyers building at 72 Broadway was damaged along with that firm's delivery sedan when a truck rolled driverless down a street from its parking space in front of 81 Broadway, the police reported at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

Police said the truck, operated by Kolodney and Meyers of Hartford, Conn., was parked by its driver, Andrew Mobley of Wilson, Conn., and was unloading when "something happened to the brake system" and the truck started to roll down the hill.

Crosses Broadway
The truck crossed Broadway, struck a delivery sedan owned by Vincent Burns of Port Ewen and operated by the Colonial Cleaners, of which Burns is proprietor, police said, pushing the sedan into three parking meters along the curbline. The driverless truck then continued, jumping the curb, and plunged into the cleaning firm's entranceway, breaking two large plate glass windows and causing other possible damage to the front, according to the report. The building occupied by the cleaners and dyers is owned by Mrs. Ida Siller of 48 Spring street, police said.

The front end, fender, headlight and door of the Burns delivery sedan were damaged, police said. The accident was investigated by Patrolman Francis Fagan. No personal injuries were reported and no arrest was made.

Truckdriver Held On Two Charges

Arrested by State Police on Complaint That He Forced Car Off Road

A Colony, N. Y., truckdriver was arrested on two charges after another driver complained to state police that he had forced his truck off the highway near Highland about 8 p. m. Friday, state police reported.

David Brook, 37, of Colony, posted $50 bail on each of two charges when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Albert Lester of Highland on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. He was apprehended at Newburgh by troopers alerted by Highland troopers after the accident was reported. A plea of innocent was entered to both charges and hearing was scheduled for March 10.

Utica Driver Complains
John G. Catraro of Utica told troopers the truck he was driving was forced off Route 9W by a Textile Transportation Corporation, Hawthorne, N. J., truck that passed him.

Catraro's vehicle upset, spilling its cargo of U. S. Army material over the highway, troopers said. Traffic was delayed until the material was picked up and a wrecker removed the upset truck.

No personal injuries were reported.

Kingston Veteran Rescues Child in Shipyard Blaze

A Kingston man serving at Kindley Air Force Base has received commendation from his commanding officer for his rescue of a child during a costly shipyard fire in Bermuda on Feb. 19.

Private First Class Donald J. Jankowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jankowski of 37 Third avenue, was on patrol as an air policeman when he discovered the fire which caused an estimated $16,000 damage to the Minors boatyard in St. David's, Bermuda, according to The Royal Gazette of Hamilton, Bermuda.

He summoned fire fighting equipment from the base and went with them to the scene, helping to evacuate families from nearby homes threatened by the blaze.

Pfc. Jankowski received special commendation from Air Police Captain Estil D. Nelms for his rescue of a small child from a smoke-filled house.

The fire destroyed four buildings, six boats in the yard, a large crane, and a house on the premises occupied by Reginald Minors, brother of the boatyard owner, The Royal Gazette reported.

More Prices Go Up

Clague told newsmen that while prices of raw materials have been declining steadily from the record highs set by the buying spurge right after the Korean War started, prices of processed or semi-finished goods are rising.

"Returning to the Cedar street corner will be like coming home," said Kivus, who missed seeing his regular customers when he was transferred to another section.

Only prime and choice meats will be handled in his market Kivus said.

A son Donald will assist his father on weekends, when not attending high school. Kivus has another son, John, in the local school and a third, Frank a student at Union College.

Milton Veteran Is Killed In Route 17 Truck Mishap

Arnold W. Schwake, 21-year-old former marine of Milton who recently returned from Korea, was killed yesterday when, police said, he drove a truck into the rear of a meat truck parked on Route 17 near Sloatsburgh, The Associated Press reported this morning.

Police said Schwake was driving a load of grapes and grape juice. Traffic in both directions could pass the spot in only one lane, and the busy highway was tied up for nearly five hours. It took rescue workers several hours to free Schwake's body.

The meat truck owned by the Denver and Chicago Trucking Co., Inc., of Chicago, was driven by Julio Paganucci, of Chicago, who suffered leg injuries.

Schwake, also a veteran of the U. S. Marine Corps during World War 2, was born in Chicago.

Clothes Chute Is Handy

In two-story houses with laundry in basement, a clothes chute is a great convenience. If this is built-in when the house is erected, it can extend down directly from a bathroom laundry hamper. A self-closing trap door at the bottom of such a chute is important for fire protection. Held by a soft spring, the door will open under the weight of clothing and snap shut to close the chute against possible function as a flue.

House 46' x 38'
Overall 66' x 38'

One of the most attractive features of "The Youngsville" is its spacious front porch which measures 16' x 9' and can be glassed or screened in if desired.

From this large porch you can go directly into the living room, through the door in the left wall; and into the kitchen, through the door in the back wall. Measuring 20 x 15 feet, the living room is the largest room in "The Youngsville" and is destined to be the family's entertainment center where friends and relatives can gather.

The large built-in fireplace in the center of the left wall adds both a decorative and friendly note to the room. It will prove itself practical, too, during chilly weather when the basement heater has been shut off.

In the front wall of the living room, the large picture window, flanked by casement windows, brings a further decorative touch to the room, it serves the practical purpose of providing plenty of light and additional ventilation.

Further light and air is provided for the living room by the large window in the left wall and the equally large window in the right wall. A door in the right end of the back wall leads to a small hallway containing a large coat closet in the right wall — a closet that is ideally situated for the storage of guests' wraps and the family's stormy weather apparel. A stairway in the left wall of this hallway leads to the basement.

Another doorway, in the left end of the back wall, opens on the central hall that leads to the bath and the two bedrooms. The large all-modern bath contains a tub and a shower and is well-lighted by a window in the back wall. Opposite the door to the back bedroom, against the right wall of this hallway, is the large linen closet.

Large Closet

The larger of the two bedrooms, intended to be used as the master bedroom, measures 12' x 13'. Assured of adequate light and good cross ventilation from the window in the back wall and the other window in the left wall of the room, this bedroom has a large clothes closet in its right wall.

Also assured of cross ventilation and plenty of light from a window in the left wall and one in the right wall, the front bedroom likewise has a large clothes closet. Measuring 12 feet square, this room could easily accommodate twin beds; the long back wall could be used for the installation of bunk beds.

The extra closet, opening on the central hall, just to the left of the door to this front bedroom, will come in handy for an assortment of storage uses.

Measuring 10' x 9', the dining room is separated from the living room by the previously mentioned small hall. The one large window in the back wall, provides light and ventilation for the room. Place your dining room set where you can reap the advantage of the light, air and view from this window.

A door in the right wall of the dining room leads to the well planned modern kitchen — thus you won't have any extra steps to take when serving a family meal or special dinner in the dining room. Long and narrow, the kitchen is 13' x 9' in dimensions.

The sink is placed under the double windows in the back wall, the logical and best location. Working counters, complete with cabinets and cupboards, are placed on either side of the sink and the L arrangement terminates along the left wall.

Against the opposite kitchen wall are arrayed, the broom closet, refrigerator, stove and an extra working counter, in that order. A door in the right section of the back wall leads to the back porch and the back yard.

This back porch also provides protected entrance to the two-car garage. Measuring 20' x 19', this garage has double windows in the right wall and another window in the back wall.

CITIZENS' LACK OF INTEREST

Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois may or may not cut a figure in the Democratic presidential race. But we can already be grateful to him for one thing: a willingness to regard politics as a fit endeavor for a man of character and ability. There are too few of his kind in the United States.

Stevenson's father told him to stay out of politics. But Adlai changed his mind when he heard of a public opinion poll recording that seven of 10 American parents didn't want their sons in public life.

It was wartime and he was outraged that boys could die in battle but their parents didn't want them to attempt to make a better America.

Stevenson's decision to enter politics was one that many more able Americans ought to be making but do not. They adopt the stock attitude that "politics is a dirty business" and no place for a decent citizen.

Then, of course, they lament the often low level of political morals and achievement.

How could it be otherwise when the men most fitted by native talent and education decline to assume public responsibilities? When the field is thus abandoned, it falls naturally to lesser men.

The same sort of irony is apparent in the attitude of the American citizenry toward last year's disclosures of city corruption by the Senate Kefauver Committee. The response was one of shock and surprise. "Look at the kind of men who are running our local governments. Isn't it shameful?" was a typical reaction.

But too frequently these same citizens never went within 100 yards of the voting booth on election days, when they had a chance to do something positive about corrupt and incompetent office-seekers. It ill becomes them to evidence surprise at an outcome which they themselves went far to assure by their indifference to politics.

There is not a politician in this country who can stand up against the aroused indignation of an alert citizenry. That has been proven time and again at the polling place.

If venal or weak men hold office, it is because we who have the power to throw them out do nothing about it. No item in the long catalog of excuses is really impressive.

First we need political recruits from the ranks of men who are plainly marked by brains and experience for public life. This means that many who would prefer to do otherwise must bestir themselves from comfortable jobs and pleasant home surroundings and enlist in the service of their country. Not to put on a uniform, but to put on responsibility.

And secondly we need a mature, alive citizenry which will work energetically to elect these qualified men. Again, this calls for effort which constitutes an interference with the well-grooved routines of daily living. But such interruption does not seem too high a price to pay for honest and intelligent government.

If we as citizens are not prepared to do this, and if our able men are not willing to serve, let us stop prating about corruption and incompetence in politics. We are yielding the field to these evils by default, and have no right to expect anything else.

MEN WITHOUT HOES

It is often difficult for Americans to realize just how far some parts of the world are behind our own progress in all fields. At a recent meeting of the United Nations Technical Assistance Agency a former cotton planter from Arkansas told how he introduced the simple garden hoe into Afghanistan. When he arrived there to study farming methods of that country he found the farmers pulling weeds by hand. He also taught them planting techniques. His work enabled them to triple their yields.

The incident in Afghanistan illustrates just how useful the program of technical assistance to backward countries can be. Such countries are always poor and miserable and it is in these areas that the germ of Communism can flourish. It is to the

THE SING SHENG CASE

The most serious psychological problem that faces our diplomats in Asia, Central and South America, Africa and the islands that are scattered in the seven seas is the assumption that Americans dislike human beings who are not "white." It is perhaps a problem without solution; surely no one has yet found an answer to it which is either practical or satisfactory.

The instance of the suburbanites in Southwood Tract, California, rejecting a Chinese family as a neighbor may seem a local matter of no importance except to the parties concerned.

Yet, I am certain that 10 years from now, the Sing Sheng case will appear and re-appear in American literature in Guatemala, in Pakistan, in the Philippines, in China, in India, in every country where racism is an insult and a humiliation.

I quote from the Wah Kiu Yat Po, a Chinese newspaper published in Hongkong:

"The strong desire for independence and freedom of the Southeast Asian people cannot be fulfilled unless the Western nations are ready to bring to an end their colonial rule. The people there may not like communism but they definitely hate to be ruled by others. That is why they prefer communism to colonialism."

This is altogether too true, and it has become the strongest weapon of Soviet Russia in many countries, most dangerously in Central and South America. Our people do not realize, for instance, that Guatemala, not far from the Panama Canal, is pretty well dominated by Communists. We get little data on the Communist troubles in Panama.

It is too easy to blame all the troubles on Russian propaganda. But propaganda never takes effect unless it falls on fertile soil. There must be a readiness for it, especially in Central and South American countries, and in Asia and in Africa, and wherever people refuse to recognize that they are inferior to any other people because of their birth and origin.

It is a very tough problem for a country like ours where race and color do arouse emotional responses in a large number of citizens. Our complications arise from the adoption of a foreign policy that requires associations with people who resent the "white" peoples of the Western European-American alliance.

This problem would not have faced us had we not become involved in the affairs of all the world, but we have become so involved, and we are seeking allies everywhere, even allies among the peoples whom we reject because of their race when they come to live among us.

This country has just experienced the humiliation of having been rejected by Mexico. That happened to be more important realistically than what happened in Suez.

I am diagnosing a case, not offering a cure, because I have none. We speak about psychological warfare, about the Voice of America influencing peoples, of reaching the nations behind the Iron Curtain.

But none of that will really mean anything unless the peoples of the countries that we want as allies sincerely believe that we do not have contempt for them because of race. Did you ever hear a Kashmirian talk about his true Aryan origin in tones that are more like a leer than a sneer?

How do you make an ally out of a nation that feels the contempt you really have for it? That was the fertile soil that Soviet Russia found in China. It was not landlordism; it was not the corruption of the Kuomintang; it was not even communism. It was an anti-"white" man attitude. It existed in that country before the Boxer Rebellion (1901), which was an outbreak against the "white" man. It existed in a large number of anti-American and anti-British boycott movements. It was expressed in the May 30th movement in 1925 when the revolution, not yet completed, was started as an opposition to all Europeans. The Russians moved into a soil prepared for them.

Few men concern themselves about the inconsistencies between what they believe and what they do. Most Americans believe that all men are created equal, as it says in the Declaration of Independence, but they cannot apply it to human beings whom they naturally dislike. And there is the rub in a situation that may, in Asia, in Africa, and in Central and South America some day cost the lives of our sons.

KEEPING EMPLOYEES AT WORK

It is interesting to see the change that has taken place in the duties of the physician in industry. Formerly, a surgeon was in charge of the care of the industrial worker, because both employee and employer thought first of accidents in connection with the industrial physician. Today, although most industrial physicians are skilled in first aid and often have an assistant equipped to give first aid, their main job is keeping employees in good, general health so that they will be practically always on the job, and so not interfere with the routine of the factory.

In The Ontario Medical Review, Dr. R. G. Birrell, Medical Director, Imperial Oil Limited, states that life would be far more enjoyable if we did not have good health. After pointing out the value of chest X-rays and the value of health examinations in the early diagnosis of heart and blood vessel disease, he speaks of the emotional problems of employees as an important part of the work of the physician in industry. "Worries due to family upsets, illness, finances, or other adjustment to the job have resulted in quite serious emotional upsets which are detrimental to, and interfere with, the normal usefulness of the employee at work."

Many cases of stomach, intestinal or heart and blood vessel symptoms have been investigated and physical disabilities as causes have been ruled out. These symptoms are believed to be a sign of poor adjustment at work or at home.

It can be seen that a case of poor adjustment to work or to domestic life might take a long time to discover as the actual cause of poor work in industry or a frequent cause of absenteeism. Perhaps only by teamwork on the part of the physician, nurse and social worker will this emotional underlying cause be discovered. However, "the successful handling of such cases pays big dividends in well-adjusted employees who are able to do a normal or even better than a normal job, in place of being a burden to themselves as well as to others."

In all cases, emotional and otherwise, the family physician is taken into consultation as this is essential to the most effective care and treatment of the employee.

It is a big step forward in industry when the employee becomes such an integral part of an operation that his all-round welfare is safeguarded.

Gaining Weight

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary of Defense Lovett did some neat double-talking recently when he promised senators to abolish lie detectors.

What happened was that Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Republican, called Lovett on the carpet before the Senate Armed Services Committee after discovering military investigators were using lie detectors on loyalty suspects. Morse objected that lie detectors are frowned upon by American courts, following which Lovett promised to stop using them.

In contrast, here is the actual record set out by Lovett: "I desire that all use of the polygraph (lie detector) for pre-employment and security clearance purposes within the immediate office of the Secretary of Defense be discontinued."

A Defense Department spokesman admitted to this column that the secretary's "immediate office" includes only nine civilians and 11 military personnel. In other words, the lie detector cannot be used on the 20 people in Lovett's "immediate office," but is permissible anywhere else in the Defense Department.

Result is that lie detectors are still in use as much as ever, though Lovett publicly gave the impression they would be outlawed.

Senator Morse is now toying with the idea of suggesting that a lie detector be used on the secretary of defense to make sure he doesn't give evasive answers.

Inside the Iron Curtain
A group of realistic peace crusaders, many of them iron curtain refugees, listened to some plain talk last week on how we can win the cold war against Russia and restore world peace by using a weapon Stalin fears more than the atom bomb—the resistance of people he has enslaved behind the iron curtain.

Sparked by three forthright congressmen—O. K. Armstrong of Missouri; Republican; Brooks Hays of Arkansas, Democrat; and Charles Kersten of Wisconsin, Republican—the meeting was called the conference on psychological strategy. However, it all added up to people-to-people diplomacy of the type being practiced by thousands of American school children right now in writing messages to Russian school children.

GOP Fires on Military Aid
GOP policymakers are quietly leading Republican senators with ammunition in order to open fire on the military aid program. The GOP theme has been set in a confidential memo to every Republican senator from the Senate Minority Policy Committee, headed by Senator Taft.

In reply, Senator Morse quoted first from the inscription on the Statue of Liberty: "Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free, the wretched refuse of your teeming shore. Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me. I lift my lamp beside the golden door."

To this Morse added: "Unless you are a descendant of the native Americans who lived in this country before the coming of the white man, I assume that your ancestors came here as immigrants, no doubt with high hopes of living a fruitful and useful life. What would have been their reaction if they had been turned back and told, 'you cannot enter; America is for Americans'?"

Sculpture in Paul Fiene Memorial Exhibit
Acclaimed by Critics in New York City

Art critics reviewing the Paul Fiene Memorial exhibition for the New York City newspapers have acclaimed the late sculptor's work. The exhibit is currently open to the public at the Sculpture Center, 167 East 69th street, and has been extended two weeks beyond its originally scheduled closing date, until March 21. The Center is open daily, Monday through Friday, from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m.

Described as a sculptor of note, the reviewer for the New York Herald Tribune wrote of Paul Fiene's work, "Woodstock in spite of the many artists of repute who have worked there, has produced but few sculptures of note. One of them, who practiced his art unostentatiously for a long period, the late Paul Fiene, is recalled by an attractive show at the Sculpture Center, a show of figures and portraits compatible with the influences of the Beaux Arts Academy in New York, where Fiene studied, and of Gaston Lachaise with whom he was associated in the latter's studio.

"Naturally there is a realist style involved here. With early portraits highly polished in execution and over-meticulously skilled, other works—including human figures and figures of birds and animals—are large in feeling, and effectively show the handsomely carved stone work which the artist grew to emphasize as a medium of final choice.

"Over the years, Fiene's progress was slow, perhaps, and unsensational, but in his final years he improved his talent immeasurably, both in regard to fundamental values and in respect to the feeling and sensitive simplicity of the concepts he achieved."

Describing the sculptor's earlier work as "static realism," the New York Times critic writes of his latter work, "carved with a skill of craftsmanship that is a real loss to American sculpture."

Paul Fiene had resided in Woodstock for more than 25 years prior to his death in October, 1949.

The Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Houston, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, was the guest speaker at the regular Wednesday supper meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the YWCA and gave a Lenten address.

"Lent is a time for persons to consider what their faith means to them and where it is leading them," said Dr. Houston, "as well as a time to inquire into their lives and ascertain what they are contributing to faith, freedom and justice in the world."

The speaker commented that religion has sometimes been defined as a decent formula to embellish a comfortable life, rather than a challenge to a better way of life.

"Peace of mind is not secured by avoiding tensions but by facing them with the consciousness of a supreme loving Father over and around us to whom we can turn for help," Dr. Houston told his listeners.

Mrs. Mortimer Englander of the Midway Shop will be the guest at the next meeting, Wednesday, March 5. She will speak about table decorations and entertaining. Reservations for supper may be made by telephoning the YWCA not later than Monday, March 3.

NOT RUDE TO LEAVE HIM

A wife writes me as follows: "A relative of my husband's has recently moved into our neighborhood. As he has no family of his own, he comes to our house several nights a week to watch television. My husband works nights and I have to stay home anyway with our young son, so I don't mind his coming in, but he never knows when to go home. Some nights I am very tired and would like to go to bed early. Is there anything I can do without hurting his feelings?"

If he were an occasional visitor, you couldn't do anything. But to one who comes in constantly and who is also a relative, you could certainly feel free to tell him that you are very tired and that you are going to leave him, but that he is welcome to stay to see the end of the program. Further than this, it would not be rude to remind him to turn off the machine and downstairs lights when he goes.

Names on Greeting Cards

Dear Mrs. Post: When sending a greeting card that is to include husband, wife and young son, in what order do their names correctly appear?

Answer: The usual order is: John and Mary and John, Jr. But if John himself were writing it, it would be inclined to write Mary and John and John, Jr. When names are printed, the father's name comes first—always.

Spiced Fruit With Meat

Dear Mrs. Post: When pickled or spiced fruits are passed at dinner with the meat course, should they be put on the bread-and-butter plate or on the dinner plate?

Answer: On the dinner plate.

Is it true that bread and butter plates are taboo at a formal dinner? Mrs. Post is sorry she can't answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-30, "Table Settings and Service," gives details on both formal and informal settings. Jacoboby on Canasta

YOU CAN MELD OUT HERE

"In a two-handed Canasta game, recently," writes a Nebraska correspondent, "I was dealt the following 15 cards:

K-K-K 10-10-10 7-7 6-6 2-2-2 Joker

"The dealer turned up a deuce and covered it with a six. I took the discard pile and melded my entire hand, including a canasta of four sixes and three wild cards. I put the joker and the turned-up deuce together with my pair of sevens.

"Did this count as a concealed meld out? Is this sort of play allowed at the very first turn?"

"If this is a legal meld out, I have another problem for you. The dealer had a red three in his hand. He never had a chance to do anything with that red three. What happens with it? Is it counted as 100 points against him, or 300 points against him? He claimed it should not count at all."

The play is a perfectly legal meld out. There's no objection at all to melding out at your very first turn. It's just very lucky. Your opponent should be forgiven if he complains about your luck, but he has no other rights. You get the bonus of 200 points for melding out with a concealed hand.

Now for the red three. In this situation the red three counts 100 points against your opponent, but he does not draw a card to replace it. It is treated as though it were already down on the table.

Q—In the game of Samba, are you allowed to add a natural card to a closed canasta? For example, suppose you have five kings and a pair of deuces. May you add a sixth king to that canasta?

A—Yes. You may add as many natural cards as you like to a closed canasta. In the example, you would be allowed to add a sixth king to the canasta of kings. Note, however, that you would not be allowed to add a card to a sequence canasta (samba). You are never allowed to have more than seven cards in a samba.

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEPerfect Bidding
Won This Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, played in the English Masters Individual Tournament is remarkable both for bidding and for play.

The bidding is unusual because everybody got into the act. North managed to find two bids with one queen and two jacks. East found a bid and a double with only one king. It's no wonder that West climbed one trick too high and that South returned the compliment. How those English love to bid.

The play was even more interesting. West led the king of spades and continued with the jack. East played the four and then the nine of spades. West then shifted to clubs, and it was up to South to win the rest of the tricks.

The bidding made it clear that West had a five-card spade suit. Hence East had only two spades. South asked himself: Why didn't East ask for a spade continuation by playing the nine of spades first and then the four of spades? And why didn't West continue spades anyway when he saw the nine of spades appear from his partner's hand?

The answer was clear: East could not over-ruff the dummy. Therefore he didn't ask for a spade continuation. By the same token, West could see the king of diamonds in his own hand and knew that his partner could not over-ruff dummy.

He did not want to hammer that fact home by leading a third spade, for then South would know that a diamond finesse could not succeed.

South thought this all out carefully and came to the conclusion that West had the king of diamonds. On the chance that it was unguarded, South laid down the ace of diamonds and dropped West's singleton king.

Now only careful timing was necessary to bring in eleven tricks. South entered dummy with a low trump to the ten, finessed the queen of hearts, won another finesse with the ten of hearts, and cashed the heart ace.

He returned to dummy with a trump to the jack in order to ruff a fourth round of hearts. Then he could ruff a spade with dum-

Day of Prayer

The Lord be with us, as we walk into the Lenten gloom. And there behold, the Lamb of God Who walked into His doom.

Each week, we pray, and meditate on all the loving deeds. Our Savior died, while here on earth. And still does, when we heed. Oh, those who worked and scorned, at him.

He answered firm, but mild—"You see, our Saviour sinless was. For our sins Jesus died!"

It's good to know that someone cares When you are down and out—Just talk to Him, in silent prayer. Your sorrow, Christ will share.

my last trump in order to cash dummy's fifth heart.

Curiously enough, if West had continued with a third spade at the very beginning of the hand, South could not have made his contract. The timing would be all wrong for the hearts; and if South tried to ruff two spades in dummy, East would win a trump trick.

The answer was clear: East could not over-ruff the dummy. Therefore he didn't ask for a spade continuation. By the same

The ground swell of personal rebirth is spilling over into the public prints. No longer are newspapers and popular magazines printing furtive little references to a Supreme Being. They come right out and say GOD in boldface type. People are losing their blush when they admit (or proudly state) that they are starting again to attend places of public worship. Old Joe Stalin has laid an egg in American with his atheism. The goading piece of sharp sand irritates the placid oyster into producing a product of utter perfection—the pearl. Maybe the joke of the 20th Century will be that the thoroughly evil, suspicious, stupid and Godless barbarians of the Kremlin have, by their very evil, started one of the greatest spiritual regenerations of all time! Despair grows like an ingrown hair until finally, in a painful burst and purge of the poison, a comfort is reached . . . a peace. Perhaps we're luckier than we think to be around while all of this is happening.

If an enveloping gloom has got you down, consider the above. It is a report, not an opinion.

Arizin Now 85 Points Ahead of George Mikan

(By The Associated Press) Paul Arizin, the Philadelphia Warrior wizard, has opened a comfortable lead in his bid to end the three year reign of Minneapolis' George Mikan as the top scorer in the National Basketball Association.

Arizin pulled 85 points ahead of Mikan last night by scoring 40 points in Philadelphia's 103-86 victory over the Baltimore Bullets. The two score markers were the most Arizin has ever scored since he entered the league last season.

The Warriors led throughout and the victory enabled them to square their season's record at 29-29.

Groat Scores 48 In Duke Finale

(By The Associated Press)

Princeton, tied with Cornell for first place in the "Ivy" Basketball League, has a chance to grab the lead tonight.

Princeton trimmed Harvard, 65-55, last night to step into the tie with Cornell. Both teams have 8-1 records. Princeton plays fifth-place Dartmouth tonight and Cornell is idle.

There was a touching scene in Durham, N. C., where Dick Groat scored 48 points to lead Duke to its 13th straight triumph, a 94-64 conquest of North Carolina.

It was Groat's last home game. When he was taken out, with about 10 seconds left, he broke into tears as the crowd of 7,500 gave him what was believed to be the greatest ovation ever accorded a Duke player.

Kentucky's NCAA champs, powered by Frank Ramsey's 21 points and Cliff Hagan's 20, crushed Tulane, 85-61, in the Southeastern Conference tourney. In other quarterfinals, LSU downed Mississippi, 75-60; Florida overtime to beat Vanderbilt, 66-63 and Tennessee nipped Alabama, 61-60.

Joe will perform with a team of major league all-stars, managed by the star of another era, Ty Cobb. Manager Fred Haney and his Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League will be the opposition.

Enclosing an invitation to attend the Cleveland Indian-Chicago Cubs exhibition game on July 21 at Cooperstown, Ernest J. Lanigan, the historian of baseball's Hall of Fame, expressed satisfaction with the attendance at the shrine.

"While the minor league clubs complained about the drop in attendance last year," wrote Lanigan, "the National Baseball Hall of Fame was having its biggest season—97,645 cash customers against a previous high in 1949 of 93,731. The patrons in 1950 numbered 90,079."

New marks were set for monthly and daily attendance in 1951, 31,905 for August and 2574 for July 23, when the Dodgers and Athletics played at Doubleday Field.

Hall of Fame officials are confident that in 1952 the attendance will pass the 100,000 mark. What pleases them is that so far this year there hasn't been a day when the turnstiles haven't been used.

"Souvenir Bat—Courtesy of Bobby Thomson:

Lanigan mentioned that at the present time the most attractive souvenir at Cooperstown is the bat used by Bobby Thomson that put the Giants in the World's Series and took the Dodgers out of it.

It hasn't been placed in any case yet, so the Hall of Fame patrons can handle it—and have their pictures taken with it. The historic war club was procured for the Hall of Fame by Prince Hal Schumacher, former New York Giant and Rochester Red Wing, and current vice-president of the McLaughlin-Millard International at Dolgeville.

When one lists Prince Hal as a former International Leaguer, the listing is correct, though no dooper can and any record for him. (And even Bob Tierney didn't know it!) But John McGraw sent him to Bill Southworth at Rochester in 1931 and the man whose firm made the bat that sank the Dodgers never got out of the bullpen. Billy the kid had him warm up in Reading one night, but switched instead to Ralph Judd, one of Corbett's 1934 Chiefs and Ralph got his ears pinned back.

And they were large ears, too, Lanigan recalls. But not as gigantic as those belonging to Julian Weir, a Syracuse Chief during the Corbett regime. His nickname among the noble athletes was Flop Ears. Being a nice fellow the scribes seldom used that title in their stories, being careful to refer to the little third baseman as F. E. Weir.

Beans Reardon Comes Back to Call 'Em:

Beans Reardon, whose 24-year career as National League umpire included six World Series and three All-Star assignments, has traded in his lack for a typewriter and will be appearing on these pages soon in a brand new feature called "The Umpire."

It will be a bright, sparkling recollection of anecdotes, incidents and highlights of Reardon's career. And the veteran arbitrator—I never missed one in my life—will be right there on top of the play to answer questions about problems and players.

"Too many bad ball hitters." That's the principal reason the Dodgers blew a 13½ game lead in the 1951 National League pennant race.

Authority for the statement is Clyde Sukeforth, ex-Dodger coach who suffered through the Great Collapse with Charlie Dressen but was not invited to return.

"A club can get away with one or two," explains the old backstop, "but the Dodgers twice demonstrated that six are at least four too many. Remarkable hitters have strayed—and are getting away—from the strike zone. Joe Medwick could make up his mind to whack a pitch and knock the ball into the stands, for example, but the old percentage remains with the fellows and team making the pitcher come in there with a good pitch," said Sukeforth.

"It is impossible for a pitcher to walk Furillo unless he throws the ball behind him," asserts Sukey. "Stanky, on the other hand walks about 30 times in every 100 at bat. That's why Stanky scored only five runs less than Furillo with 70 less hits batting 48 points less in 13 fewer games."

"Oh, those bases on balls," said Frank Frisch says.

Then there was the one about the Cheyenne golfer who was hotter than a firecracker.

Practicing in an indoor net set up in his basement, he placed a match head in the center of his target. He scored a bull's eye on his first shot. It ignited the match, target, net—and house.

Maroon Ace Runs Seasonal Point Total to 429; Needs 29 More for New Record

Leroy Hooker needs 29 more points to shatter Ronnie Scheffel's all-time KHS scoring record of 457 points for a season.

The hook shot specialist unloaded 37 markers to pace Kingston to an overwhelming 79-57 conquest of Middletown last night on the Middle boards to run his seasonal total to 429 for 17 games.

Operating at a 25.4 clip per game, Hooker still has one regular season contest left—Tuesday with Beacon on the road—and the sectional tournament that gets under way in Kingston next Friday.

The 37 points gave the mighty Maroon ace a total of 64 in his last two outings. Tuesday night he holed 27 against Catskill to eclipse Scheffel's record for regular season play.

Maroons Red Hot

The Maroons staged one of their best shooting performances of the season against the Middies who figured to be tough. But they wilted under the relentless pressure of Hooker's shooting and the able assistance of George Telepas and Frank Koenig.

It was the 11th Maroon triumph against six defeats in the regular season that closes out Tuesday. Kingston exploded for a 21-point second period to carry a 36-25 halftime lead into the dressing room after encountering stubborn opposition in the getaway period.

The Maroons were clocked in 21-22 for the last three periods. Middletown was held to a dozen points in the second and third quarters before it piled up 20 against the KHS reserves in the stretch.

Rough Contest

At times the contest grew rough and tumble, particularly in the last quarter, with the result that Referee Buck Gros and Bob Magill called 54 infractions, 30 on Middletown and 24 on Kingston. The KHSmen picked up 23 points from the charity stripe, Hooker getting seven to go with his 15 baskets for the 37-point harvest.

Bill DuBois, a substitute guard, rimmed six singletons.

Telepas was the scoring surprise of the contest, relieving Don Madison near the end of the half, he rimmed six fields and four fouls for 16 points. Frank Koenig hit with a dozen markers.

Ritter ed the Middies with 19 points and Damico had 10.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Today is more than the official starting point of the training season to Boston Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin—he's going to talk turkey with his three unsigned stars, Ted Williams, Billy Goodman and Johnny Pesky.

Of the trio, the slugging Williams probably will be the easiest to sign. With Ted scheduled for his physical examination to decide whether he'll go on active duty as a Marine pilot, the main question will be the salary arrangements for a possible part season's work. Utility man Goodman and infielder Pesky are apt to be a bit harder to deal with, since both want pay hikes.

Koslo Confident

Phoenix, Ariz., March 1 (AP)—Lefty Dave Koslo of the New York Giants believes he is headed for a banner season. He has been working on a knuckleball pitch for the past year and has perfected it.

"I began throwing the knuckleball early last season," Dave said. "I have worked on it constantly since then and have now come to the point where I throw it with confidence."

Robinson's Theory

Vero Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger second baseman Jackie Robinson said today that the condition of the legs and not age or weight determine the length of a baseball career.

"What difference does it make what age you put on the roster," Robinson asked. "Numbers don't mean anything. It's how you feel that counts. I don't drink or smoke. Some fellows are as good or better, at 35, than a lot of others at 30. It's the legs that count."

Double Plays Click

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Pitching and fielding took the spotlight as the St. Louis Cardinals completed their first intra-squad game yesterday—a six-inning start that ended 1-1. Each team collected two hits.

A pair of fast double plays played Redbird Manager Eddie Sawyer the most. One was started by third sacker Tommy Glavin and the other by shortstop Solly Hemus. Wally Paster, owned by Rochester of the International League, a Cardinal farm club—was the pivot man in both cases.

Baton Rouge, La., March 1 (AP)—Two Texans who want to shoot it out might get the chance in the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open golf tournament.

The Texas terrorists, Tommy Bolt and Jack Burke, Jr., are high-flying leaders as the tournament moves into third round play today over the Baton Rouge Country Club course.

Bolt, who plays under the colors of a Durham, N. C., club, lives in Houston, and is a native of Oklahoma, holds a one-stroke lead with a 68-69-137. Burke is second with 68-70-139.

Their nearest rivals are seven strokes behind at 144, including Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y.

Beaten or Unbeaten That's the Question

The following letter from Vince DeLuca of the Church Basketball League is self-explanatory and should clear up a misunderstanding created last week in basketball circles:

45 Wilson Avenue
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Charlie:
I would like you to correct a mis-stated fact that was published in tonight's issue of the Freeman. It was probably no fault of yours but I think the one who wrote the score should check up on his statistics before-hand.

On the sports page appeared the head: "Old Hurley Shatters Salvation Army Winning Streak 47-46, in Church Loop."

It is true that they have a nine-game winning streak going in the Junior Division, including a victory over my own team, but they have been beaten before in the Senior loop.

St. Mary's Seniors beat this team, 57-56 on the 11th of February this year. And St. Peter's beat them previous to that date.

This letter is not one meant to be a critical nature against you or the paper, only to the ones that are so stupid as to put something in the hands of the press before finding out the facts.

Yours truly,
VINCE DE LUCA.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

By SHIRLEY SWAIN

Carnival Benefit Is Scheduled Saturday

New Paltz, March 1—Who says today's college student is self-centered and hard boiled? Who says he's interested only in his own material gain?

Students at the local college are proving that people who hold these beliefs are wrong.

Today, the entire college is participating in a winter carnival and bazaar, proceeds of which will go to the benefit of a fellow student, Tom Touhy, of Yonkers. Tom was seriously injured in an automobile mishap last fall which took the life of another student. Long, expensive hospitalization and doctors' care followed. Because they want to do what they can to help, New Paltz students have planned and organized the carnival for Tom's benefit.

The carnival climaxes a week which has been transformed from the usual fraternity and sorority pledging week, to Help Tom Touhy Week. The energies and efforts of pledges have gone into developing the carnival, building bazaar booths, and assisting in every way to promote the benefit affair. No campus organization will put financially from the carnival, but all organizations will be turned over to Tom Touhy.

Starting the carnival this afternoon was a basketball game between the Theta Phi Sorority and Phi Eta Sigma Fraternity, the boys wearing boxing gloves. During the half, Sigma Tau Gamma will sponsor a four-shooting contest. The carnival will open at 3:30 in the Student Union. Many types of fun and entertainment will be featured with prizes donated by local merchants. Tom Touhy tags will be sold throughout the day by members of the Junior Class.

Basketball intramurals and a variety tilt with Albany State Teachers will open in the gymnasium at 7:15 p. m. The entire affair will be climaxed by a dance sponsored by Tom's fellow-classes, the sophomores, in the Student Union Building.

Danish Exhibit Now At College Building

New Paltz, March 1—A premier showing of 80 Danish posters is now in progress at the local college. The exhibition on display in the Student Union Building, is open to the public and will close March 8.

The exhibition is the first collection of works by Danish artists to be shipped to the United States. Following its premier showing at New Paltz, the exhibition will tour museums and art galleries throughout the country. Arrangements for the showings are being handled by Hans Joakim Schultz, well-known Danish educator and lecturer, through the auspices of the American Federation of Arts.

Assembled by the Danish Society for the purpose of disseminating information about Danish culture, the exhibition represents the work of Denmark's foremost artists of the past ten years.

Aides Appointed For Scout Drive

New Paltz, March 1—Today marks the beginning of the annual New Paltz Girl Scout finance drive in connection with the 40th birthday celebration of the International Girl Scout movement.

Residents of each street will call for contributions next week, Mrs. Loren D. Campbell, finance chairman, announces.

Some of the proceeds will be used to provide campships for New Paltz girls at Camp Wendy. There are 95 registered Girl Scouts in the village.

The Scout movement has been active here for nearly 25 years. Mrs. Montgomery Storrs, Miss Margaret Fletcher, former dean of women at the old New Paltz Normal School, and Miss Helen Hasbrouck were the original organizers. Miss Hasbrouck was active in the organization for 15 years.

Throughout its history the organization has helped to provide wholesome recreation and an out-of-door life for the girls, stressed citizenship and increased community spirit.

Miss Bertha Bennett, a member of the committee for 22 years and acting now as nominating chairman, said that the number of adult workers has increased along with the membership. From a single troop, the organization has grown to its present strength of six, with the expected addition of a new troop this year.

In the past Girl Scouts have taken part in civic parades, helped with the annual library fund campaigns and distributed voter's information for the League of Women Voters. New community services are being planned for this year.

Local canvassers for contributions are Mrs. Lin Linacre, Mrs. Herman Ackert, Mrs. Myrtle Hinsberger, Mrs. George Langwick, Mrs. Harry Pope, Mrs. Clifford Van Valkenburgh, Mrs. John Kopper, Mrs. Harold Neville, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Sidney Haas, Mrs. Charles Mackey, Mrs. John Shand, Mrs. Frank an Gonsic, Mrs. Edith Lindrup, Miss Esther Bentley, Miss Marian Moser, Mrs. John McKie, Mrs. Kenneth Hotelling and Mrs. Charles Langwick.

New Teacher Salary Scale Is Adopted

New Paltz, March 1—Final adoption of the new teacher's salary schedule for Central School District No. 1 was the main item on the agenda at the school board meeting February 28.

A detailed account of the new scale, with added conditional salary steps, will be made public by New Paltz High School Principal Frank Bugar soon. He said that the new scale will compare favorably with that in other areas.

Keep Mind on Work

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Senator Russell of Georgia, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says he has been verbally vaccinated against "presidentialitis" and won't let it hurt his senatorial work. "When I first came here a wise old senator took me aside and told me that more good senators had been ruined by 'presidentialitis' than any other good cause," he said. "I decided then my main efforts would be in the Senate and that still holds."

teacher in the school district was considered by the board, which is composed of President David W. Corwin and Members Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt, Fred H. DuBois, Raymond Hasbrouck, and Clifford H. Hoppens.

School District No. 1 includes the schools in Plutarch, Tuttle-town, and Gardiner as well as the New Paltz High School. The district also provides six teachers for the Central Elementary School this year. The school district has a nurse there, and the school buses for students outside the village.

Death of Young White Mother Is Still a Mystery

Greenwich, Conn., March 1 (AP)—Mystery still shrouds the cause of death of a pretty 16-year-old mother, whose body was found yesterday stuffed into an old trunk and dumped on a fashionable estate here.
The young white woman, mother of a 16-month-old daughter, was identified early today as Mrs. Joanne Barbara Scott by her estranged husband, Gerald Scott, 20, a Negro, of Wilwaukee, Wis.
Scott made the identification from a photograph transmitted by wire. The woman was about five feet, two inches tall, weighed about 114 pounds, had blue eyes and dark blond hair.
Milwaukee police are questioning an unidentified man who reportedly left that city with Mrs. Scott, who disappeared from her home there on Jan. 18. But her absence was not reported to police until Feb. 5.
Later today, New York police said a Negro man was being questioned there in connection with the case. The man was not identified. Authorities also disclosed that John M. Gleason, Greenwich chief of police, and two detectives went to New York last night to follow up an angle on the slaying.
Police described the man being questioned as a 29-year-old seaman. When shown a picture of the dead woman, police said he said "It looks familiar." He offered no resistance when picked up by four detectives early this morning.
At an autopsy yesterday, police found no evidence of external violence or disease as a cause of death. There were no hemorrhages of the heart or brain. She had been dead two or three days, they said.
Whether gas, sleeping pills or poison killed Mrs. Scott won't be determined until after a toxicological examination of body fluids. Such an examination usually takes two or three days.
The trunk and its grisly contents were discovered by a gardener on the sumptuous estate of Dr. James C. Greenway.
Mrs. Scott's body, fully clothed, had been jammed into the battered trunk with her knees doubled up under the chin. The trunk lay just inside a four-foot wall of that part of the estate bordering on a comparatively busy street.
Police said it would have taken a very strong man to hoist the trunk over the wall without leaving telltale scratches on the wall. Employees on the estate said they had been through the area as late as Wednesday. They believed the trunk had been put over the wall Thursday night.
Mrs. Scott was separated from her husband last April. Several weeks later he obtained a divorce. Their daughter's name is Dawn Marie.

Blasts Rock Detroit

Detroit, March 1 (AP)—Two explosions followed by fires rocked well-separated suburban areas last night, leaving two dead and thousands of dollars' property damage. The blasts came about three hours apart. The first, at dinner time, shattered a sporting goods store in Royal Oak and killed Claude Parmelee, 58, and customer Norman E. Fisher, 48. The second, a partly finished $500,000 tank-making plant being built by the Ford Motor Co. in Livonia, several miles to the west of Royal Oak. Firemen who reported that fire under control about three hours later said apparently no one was hurt.

Reynaud Gets Start

Paris, March 1 (AP)—Paul Reynaud, the financial wizard who led France in her fall before the Germans, got off to a quick start today in his first attempt to head a new kind of French postwar government. There were indications that if he can win office he will set up a strong cabinet of technicians and start a thorough-going shakeup of the unstable French political system. The 73-year-old veteran politician won the unanimous support of the members of Parliament in his own loosely-organized Conservative party, the Union of Independents and Peasants. That virtually assured him of 102 votes in the National Assembly. He needs 313 to be confirmed as premier.

Dancers Leave in Hurry

Baltimore, March 1 (AP)—Forty teenagers enthusiastically danced to "Baby, Please Don't Go" last night—and then went in a hurry. The floor gave way. They scooted into the basement, a screaming tangle of flailing arms and flying legs, squirted with water from broken pipes. Somebody mistook the dust cloud from the broken old two-story rowhouse for smoke and turned in a fire alarm.

Tanks Still Battling
Seoul, March 1 (AP)—United Nations tanks today rumbled into action on the muddy Korean warfront for the second straight day. A tank-infantry raiding unit, backed up by intense artillery fire, hammered Red targets south of Pyongyang on the central front for more than an hour at dawn Saturday. Chinese artillery and mortar fire damaged two of the tanks. The tanks were pulled back to allied lines. That brought to 12 the number of allied tanks destroyed or damaged Friday and Saturday. Allied fighter bombers balanced off part of this loss Saturday afternoon. The Mustangs and marine Corsairs caught a camouflaged Red tank convoy north of Pyongyang and destroyed three and badly damaged six. Prongang is the apex of the "Iron Triangle" once a Communist troop staging area.

They left behind another million in securities packed in a suitcase. The theft was discovered by the broker, L. V. Redfield, and police when he returned home from an afternoon luncheon. His watchdog, described as vicious by friends, was in a bedroom happily munching a hambone taken from the refrigerator.

Plan Study Club For Mothers of Palsied Children

Preliminary plans were made at a meeting on Wednesday night to form a Mothers' Study Club in Ulster county for mothers of cerebral palsied children.

The study club idea came out of a meeting of parents and members of the board of directors of the Ulster County Cerebral Palsy Association at the Palsy Clinic rooms in the Ulster County Tumor Clinic.

Mrs. Philip Curry of Highland was named temporary chairman of the proposed study group. Plans for a larger meeting were discussed, and prospective members will be notified by postal card when the speaker, date and place have been decided.

Wednesday's meeting was called to create a closer relationship among the parents of children who are victims of cerebral palsy. A spokesman for the Cerebral Palsy Association said that until recently the parents felt they were fighting a "lone battle" and that their cause was hopeless. This feeling has been changed to one of hope and progress since the inception of the national movement to fight cerebral palsy, she said.

Reserves Decision

that it was a fact that even while heavy rain was falling, seeding of clouds had continued in the vicinity of Shokan and the City of New York continued its operations to create additional rainfall. Stang also referred to a decision of the Court of Appeals back in 1930 which held that any water induced into the Esopus creek from the Shandaken tunnel beyond a certain stage constituted a trespass. He told the court that even after the Esopus had reached this stage and had entered on flood stage, the City of New York continued to permit water to enter the Esopus creek from the Gilboa reservoir and add to the flood waters in the Esopus valley. Photographs were offered in evidence showing a sign on the door of room 1532 of the Municipal building which read "serve papers here." Photographs of a similar sign inside at a window were offered. An affidavit was also offered by Stang to the effect that efforts had been made to serve papers on the mayor, corporation counsel and others personally and the service had been referred by city employees to room 1532 where the papers in the present action were served on the clerk.

Legal Says Stang

Stang argued that in the present service the practice of years had been followed and he told the court that to have the corporation counsel determine by "whim and caprice" how papers should be served would create "chaos." He held that the service in the cases under question had been complete and legal and followed the practice of years.

Phone Company

the present rural areas of the company, 81 out of every 100 rural establishments now have telephone service, compared to 49 out of 100 six years ago. The company met all the requirements of the military and civil defense, emphasizing the essential role and demonstrating the readiness of the telephone system and of telephone people, the report states.

Building Program Planned

Looking ahead, McHugh pointed out that the company is launching a $180 million program of expansion and improvement in 1952 to take care of the telephone needs of the people, the state and to meet new military and civil defense requirements. This program calls for adding another 323,000 telephones. To do so will require about 50 new central offices, major additions to some 70 others, over 1,500,000 miles of wire in cable, and new facilities of some kind in every locality in the company's territory, he said.

Government Notes

special committee warned that "economic depression" will hit Detroit, auto production center of the nation, if civilian production continues to be cut faster than defense work is made available. Government advisers said 32,000 already are out of work in Detroit and another 37,500 may be laid off by July. The government is considering legislation to help such labor surplus areas.

Fierce Tornado

their homes were demolished by the winds.

The tornado dispelled shirt-sleeve temperatures and strong winds still howled over the city as thermometers neared freezing early today.

The blast hit first in the downtown area and swept away the Episcopal Church. Five other churches were badly damaged, as was the Lincoln county courthouse. The winds then boiled into residential areas. A Negro section was hard hit.

Two Hospitals Hit

The tornado struck Donalson Hospital for Negroes, tearing away the kitchen and dining room, then raked the Lincoln Memorial Hospital, sweeping the roof from the maternity ward. Mrs. Kenneth Ostrom, in labor when the roof was whipped from that section of the building, gave birth to a boy shortly afterward as attendants worked by lights from an emergency generator.

The tornado dipped down to earth near the west side of town and funneled a path of destruction about two miles across to the east side.

Hundreds saw the great two-columned cloud bearing down on the public square. A girl rushed into the municipal building and shouted: "There's a twister coming!"

Doubtful bystanders ran into the street. By that time, debris was being thrashed in the air by the boiling winds.
